We are pleased to present BREC's Creative Learning Program for 2026!

A collection of exceptional performing arts experiences for both Primary and Secondary students.

You don't have to be a teacher of the arts to engage with our program. It is designed to make it as easy as possible for schools to participate, so together we can ensure your students experience the arts in a vibrant and memorable way that will stay with them for a lifetime.

BREC's strategic focus areas naturally align with SCSA's cross-curriculum priorities, supporting schools to meet educational outcomes across key learning areas. Three of our 2026 performances directly assist schools in achieving these goals:

- The 7 Stages of Grieving and Cut the Sky explore Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures, offering powerful ways for students to build understanding, empathy and respect.
- A Bee Story links strongly to Sustainability, encouraging curiosity and awareness of our connection to the natural world through creativity and collaboration.

While every show in the 2026 program connects with multiple curriculum areas, these three provide a simple, meaningful way for your school to meet SCSA priorities while giving students the joy of live performance.

Our Creative Learning Coordinator is here to support your excursion planning. Each performance comes with curriculum links, resource kits and classroom ideas to extend learning before and after the event. We understand that organising an excursion adds to an already heavy workload, and we will do everything we can to help you overcome barriers to participation.

We know the challenges are real - from the cost of transport and relief cover to the increasing demands of teaching - but the evidence is clear that the benefits of attending live performance are profound. Live arts experiences are not just a break from learning; they strengthen literacy, creativity, empathy and problem-solving skills, helping students see the world in new ways.

With fewer opportunities for young people to experience the arts in school, excursions to BREC can help fill that gap - building confidence, community and imagination. For many children, a school visit to BREC is their first-ever live performance, and without that introduction, many may never discover the power of the arts for themselves.

We welcome your questions, feedback and bookings at any time, and look forward to welcoming you and your students to BREC in 2026.

WASO brings two unmissable performances to BREC in 2026 — exceptional opportunities for students to experience the brilliance of live orchestral music. In February 2026, Concertmaster Laurence Jackson leads a dynamic program featuring Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 4, Mahler's bold reimagining of Beethoven, and Haydn's witty Symphony No. 102. Students are invited to a free 4pm artist talk, where they can engage directly with WASO musicians about the performance, orchestral life, and pathways into the arts.

In September, WASO returns with Tchaikovsky's emotionally rich Symphony No. 5, conducted by Asher Fisch. This powerful work explores fate and resilience through sweeping melodies and dramatic contrasts. A free artist talk will again be offered prior to the concert. Full program details will be released in 2026.

TOP TIPS FOR COMING TO

BREC

EXCURSION PLANNING & RISK DOCUMENTS

BREC's public liability insurance certificate, venue maps, and risk management documents are available for download on the Creative Learning page of the BREC website.

Need something else for your excursion planning? Just reach out education@bunburyentertainment.com

BUS DROP-OFF & PARKING

Please let us know which bus company you're using so we can help manage traffic and parking on the day. The City of Bunbury allows buses to double park on the painted mural on Blair Street, for drop off and pick up right outside BREC - no road crossing required. There's no bus parking in the carpark at BREC, but buses can park nearby, at Jetty Baths, Koombana Bay, or Ocean Drive.

LEAVE THE BAGS BEHIND

Where possible, we ask schools to leave student bags on the bus or at school. We understand some bags may be needed for medical or support reasons — just bring only what's essential to keep the venue clear and comfortable for all.

WATER BOTTLES, SNACKS & NOISE

To avoid distractions (and spills!), we recommend that teachers hold onto water bottles during the show and hand them out only if needed. While hydration is important, a room full of bottles can lead to some very creative - but unhelpful - water bottle percussion!

Try to also avoid crinkly wrappers or noisy plastic packaging if your students are bringing snacks. These sounds carry easily and can disrupt the performance experience for everyone.

SMART WATCHES & DEVICES

Please ensure students leave light-up smart watches and phones behind or switched off and away. Even small screens lighting up during the show can be a big distraction for performers and fellow audience members.

ARRIVE EARLY

Please plan to arrive at least 20 minutes before showtime so your group has time to get seated and settled before the performance begins.
